

Make Your SQL Reports More Powerful!

For years CodaBears has been hearing from its customers their desire to drill down to useful data in the most effective manner possible. Now that desire is a reality. There is more to SQL Server Reporting Services (SSRS) than just outputting an invoice, showing yet another boring list of addresses, or displaying a tiresome grid of raw data. SSRS gives you powerful tools to display data for analysis, so take advantage of them, mastering SSRS by taking CodaBears series of SSRS classes! You will give your audience insights into important information they've been seeking.

Learn how to take your reports from blah and tedious to interesting, useful, and insightful. CodaBears will take you from report basics through advanced reporting in a series of two classes, including reports, sub-reports, conditional formatting, graphs and charts, creating interactive reports, and best practices.

SSRS is not something new to CodaBears. We've been working with the tool since SQL 2000. CodaBears has been integrating SSRS with Epicor for years. Our office actively uses SSRS reports for our own documents. You will be learning from someone who knows so much more than the basics of reporting. You'll be working with an educator who has been creating advanced reports and problem-solving for customers for years.

Both classes use hands-on exercises in an environment designed to balance between classroom theory and real user trial. Class sizes are purposefully kept small, promoting direct interaction between you and the instructor. CodaBears knows that smaller classes keep everyone together, allowing instructors to promptly answer questions. Further, the two classes are scheduled with time between to allow for practical, real-life testing which reinforces the foundations before stretching for the advanced topics. Our goal is that you have a complete grasp of the subject when class is done.

Do you have several individuals taking the courses? We can bring the classroom to you as well. Contact Sales@codabears.com with questions.
